Government megatrends

Understanding the issues shaping the future

Megatrends in government

Economy and finance

Resilience and sustainability

Procurement

Digital and transformation

Knowledge partner opportunities

Global Government Forum website and newsletter providing daily news and insight

Knowledge partner opportunities

Global Government Forum research that provides unique and unrivalled insight into what public servants around the globe think of the operational and policy challenges they face.
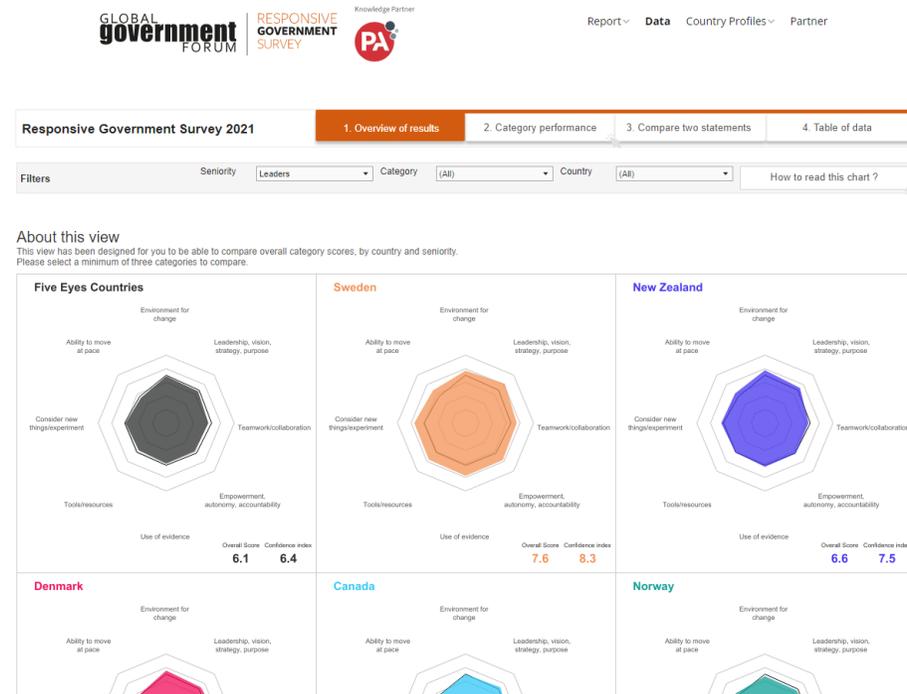

Knowledge partner opportunities

Global Government Forum's Leading Questions podcast that provides in depth interviews with senior figures across public and civil service that provides a different way for our audience to engage with our content.

Knowledge partner opportunities

Global Government Summits that bring together the most senior public servants to share their challenges with peers in a private setting

Knowledge partner opportunities

Global Government Forum webinars provides up-to-the minute and on-the-ground insight on policy issues that cut across governments, from working from home to climate change action.

Knowledge partner opportunities

Contact commercial director George O'Grady george.ogrady@pendragonim.com for information on the full range of opportunities to help your company to gets its message out to this exclusive audience of public and civil servants

Follow Global Government Forum

@globegov

www.linkedin.com/showcase/global-government-forum/

https://www.facebook.com/globegov/

www.globalgovernmentforum.com/sign-up-for-email-news-notifications/

Economy and finance

Fiscal fallout after COVID hit to balance sheets

IMF calls for 'smarter, greener' economies...

...but inflation and cost of living has begun to dominate

Public spending to be constrained in the years ahead

Upcoming knowledge partner opportunities

How to make shared services work in the public sector (October 6, 2022)

The root to all reform: how can public finance help unlock the government of the future (April 20, 2023)

Follow the money – tackling fraud, error and corruption in government (February 9, 2023)

Resilience and sustainability

Pandemic illustrates need for resilience...

...and heatwave shows need for climate action

Responsive Government Survey found 72% of officials agree 'my organisation excels at learning and responding rapidly to meet evolving citizen and end-user needs'

Public spending to be constrained in the years ahead

Resilience and sustainability

Net zero will dominate the decades ahead

Countries accounting for 83% of emissions have committed to net zero

But how they will get there is far from clear

Electorates may push for faster action

Upcoming knowledge partner opportunities

What governments can do to tackle climate change by setting policy to reduce carbon reductions (October 11, 2022)

How governments are planning to adapt to deal with the impacts of climate change (October 13, 2022)

Money for net zero, looking at how finance ministries can help support global climate action (October 18, 2022)

Playing by the Paris rulebook – what countries need to do now to measure their climate change goals (October 20, 2022)

Procurement

Many governments suspended procurement rules during COVID

But improving procurement is a long-standing aim for many governments

Longstanding need to improve both capability and capacity in procurement functions

Government want to create strategic role for public procurement

Upcoming knowledge partner opportunities

Buying right: getting procurement right in the digital age (March 7, 2023)

The doctor will see you now – future of healthcare post-COVID (February 2, 2023)

Stronger together: how to boost a nation's resilience (April 27, 2023)

Mission critical: using moonshots to drive innovation in government (November 8, 2022)

Digital and transformation

Governments looking to use digital to improve services

But the vision often doesn't lead to action…

… and key building blocks of strong digital ID systems and high-quality, cross-government data management are still missing

Find out more: Asking the experts: What do digital leaders need to succeed?

Digital and transformation

Remote and flexible working: key to recruitment?

Cyber security: a growing priority

Using data for better services

Diversity and inclusion: driving improvements

Upcoming knowledge partner opportunities

How can AI help public authorities save money and deliver better outcomes? (October 4, 2022, a webinar from our colleagues at Global Government Fintech)

AccelerateGov and Global Government Forum Digital Summit (5-6 October 2022 – Ottawa, Canada)

Getting the most out of government data (November 1, 2022)

How governments can work with automation and AI (January 24, 2023)
Government megatrends – questions

Understanding the issues shaping the future